BeZero

It is vital that BeZero Carbon retains its independence as a ratings agency within the carbon markets.

BeZero Carbon does not engage in developing carbon projects. We also do not provide any recommendations or consulting services on our ratings; we are a neutral opinion provider. We do not advise clients on any part of the design, development, auditing, accreditation or MRV processes. We do not facilitate introductions between buyers and sellers of credits through our platform or otherwise.

Employees are therefore prohibited from engaging in any advisory services pertaining to carbon markets, carbon projects or carbon credits.

For other forms of external engagement, please review our Conflict of Interest and Outside Engagement policies, and report potential conflicts to the COO.
